As a Dad I'm reaching out to let the Livingston Soccer Club know your coaching/useful links page (<https://lsclub.demosphere-secure.com/coaches-corner/lsc-coaching-articles/>) was a big help to my daughter Kristen.

With all the uncertainty still happening with COVID, Kristen's school has moved all their work to virtual classrooms online. It's been quite the transition for sure, but I'm doing my best to help Kristen with her homework to ensure she doesn't fall behind!

Since the kids are no longer at the school, it has made gym class rather difficult haha. The school asked the parents to have our kids get 30 mins of activity 3x a week. It's an honor system, but we're all doing what we can.

Kristen's PE teacher has also asked the kids to write a short paper each week. Each week, their teacher picks a new health/nutrition/athletic subject to learn about. This week Kristen is learning about the history of soccer! Your page led us to some great websites and information to check out! Thanks!!

With that being said, I was also hoping you could add another link to your page? Kristen found this history of Adidas/soccer guide yesterday which I was very impressed with!

This is it.... <https://www.journeys.com/articles/history-of-adidas-and-soccer>

It was a fun read! (A trip down memory lane for me...I played soccer as a teenager in the 80s and remember some of the shoes/World Cup soccer balls!)
